PHOENIX ENGINEERS WILL GET CHARTER IN NATIONAL BODY

A letter received from headquarters of the American Association of Engineers assuring the recently organized Phoenix Engineers' society it would receive a charter in the national organization was made public at a meeting of the local society at the city hall last night.

The merits of the newly formed organization of engineers has been with almost instant recognition both locally and nationally. This was brought out by the appointment of members for a committee to confer with Secretary Turney of the public library in regard to the selection of technical books; a committee to prepare an analysis of conditions relating to flood control in this state and make recommendations on the recent report submitted to the government by F. H. Olmstead on "Gila River Flood Control."

Both these committees have been formed an answer to requests from those directly interested in the respective matters.

MEETING WELL ATTENDED
The meeting last night was largely given over to a discussion of arrangements to care for and entertain visiting engineers from over the state during fair week. The tentative plans of establishing a camp for the visitors on North First avenue were discarded and in place of the camp the society has taken over the entire top floor of the Deaconess hospital where the visitors can be better accommodated. However, if this space proves inadequate to comfortably house all the visitors, tents will be pitched on lots adjoining the hospital.

All the engineers of the state will be asked to attend a general meeting in the school administration building Wednesday, November 5, when plans for a statewide organization of engineers will be presented. Following this meeting the Phoenix society will tender a banquet to the visitors.

The membership roll of 63 was boosted to 73 when four new members were accepted last night.
